CRANDALL'S SAVOY THEATER IS OPENED

Structure in Fourteenth Street Near Columbia Road, Was Closed for Remodeling.

Having been closed for two months for improvements, Crandall's Savoy Theater, on Fourteenth street near Columbia road northwest, opened

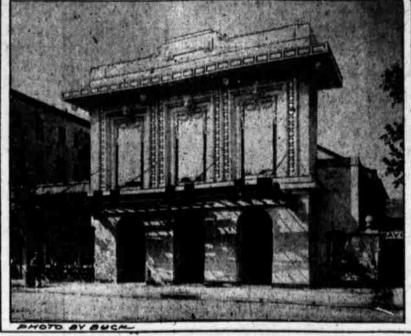

Meanwhile, the one-story building purchased last March by Harry Crandall has been converted into a twostory structure to permit the installastory structure to permit the installation of a spacious balcony that increases the seating capacity of the house from less than 1,000 to more than 1,400.

The appearance of the front of the theater has been improved by the construction of an iron grillwork, glass filled canopy over the entrance, while within a large lobby, adorned with marble pillars, gold lacquered mirrors and art panels has been arranged. On each side of the lobby are rest rooms.

Twelve exits, conveniently situated, make it possible to empty the main floor and balcony in less than a minute. High-power electric lights and an electric sign which flashes the name of the theater add to the attractiveness of the entrance. The Savoy is the fourth of a string of theaters conducted by Mr. Crandall.

CRANDALL'S NEW THEATER

Savoy, Which Was Reopened Last Night After Extensive Improvements.

The others are Crandall's, Ninth and E streets northwest; Crandall's Apollo, 624 H street northeast and Crandall's Avenue Grand, 645 Pennsylvania avenue southeast

Can You Ghost Dance? Sure! It's Easy. Try It

Ethnologists Say It Is Very Easy and Not at All Like Show Apaches Gave Border Troops-Full Directions Given.

Ladies and gentlemen will please form a circle, facing inward, with hands clasped all around. Now hum softly-anything.

New move the left foot sidewise to the left. Now follow with the right foot, drag-

Barely lift your feet from the ground but keep the circle moving. So!

You have now mastered the steps of the ancient Indian "ghost dance," which, says a bulletin issued by the Bureau of American Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution today, is not he dance performed recently on the Mexican border for General Pershing and his staff by his Apache scouts, newspaper reports to the contrary notwithstanding Beat No Tom-toms.

The reports from the border told of the beating of tom-toms, of-masks worn and wands carried by the dancers, of bonfires and such like, all contributing to the dance, but, say the experts of the Smithsonian, the archives of the Bureau of Ethnology contain records of no such dance, and certainly of no with antics and scenery in connection with the historic "ghost dance." The spectacle on the border, says this discouraging bulletin, "seems to have been a makeshift, conglomerate affair, without rhyme or reason, except as a means for entertaining the guilible white man." "The American Redman, in fact," it goes on to say, "is something of a 'flim-flam' artist when it comes to preserving his own religion, rituals and traditions.

· Does Divulge Beliefs.

"He is ever loath, and at times very unwilling, to divulge his beliefs, often ethnologists years to obtain certain data, even while living with the very tribe practicing the particular forms regarding which information is desired. With the Indian, whatever be his tribe, his religion is everything to him that a consciencious white man's is to him, and most of his songs, dances, and ceremonies are part of his religious beliefs. Naturally we cannot expect him to step forward willingly in front of an assembly of whites and render an unabridged demonstration of his beliefs, doctrines, rituals, formulae and so on. With proper and sufficiet persuasion he makes a "show" of some sort, however, anything with which he tribe practicing the particular forms sort, however, anything with which he thinks he can satisfy them; and the result in that he accomplishes his purpose, but laughs up the sleeve of his

SUNDA'Y BASEBALL LIKELY IN BALTIMORE

Edward Hanlon, Friend of Sport, Slated for Park Board.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 24.—Edward Han-lon, former baseball magnate, and leader of the pennant-winning Orioles in 1894, 1895, and 1896, is slated for membership on the park board.

Mayor Preston has let it be known tha he is seriously considering him for James T. Stuart's place, to become vahe is seriously considering him for James T. Stuart's place, to become vacant October 1.

The mayor said that Mr. Hanlon had been highly recommended, and the expectation is that his name will be sent to the second branch of the city council Monday evening, October 2, and the nomination confirmed immediately. Official announcement of Mr. Hanlon's appointment will be good news to advocates of Sunday baseball, lawn tennis, golf, and other outdoor sports in the parks, and they will look to him as their champion in the administration.

Lovers of the national pastime feel that "Ned" Hanlon will be on the right side every time the question comes up at meetings of the board. His interest in the game and his desire to put Baltimore back on the big league map was shown when he joined the forces of the Federals three years ago and became a director in the management of the Terrapins.

Mr. Hanlon was active in the movement to get a big league club for Baltimore this year, and officials at the city hall expect him to be fully as active in looking after the parks and squares.

Town's Police Force 6 Feet, 7 Inches High

GRANTSBURG, Wis., Sept. 24.-The city's police force is believed ample for every emergency. It consist entirely of "Big Gust." who may have a name as long as his height, 6 feet 7 inches; but if he has it isn't known generally. So lightly do the cares of the constable's office fail on Gust that he has taken up, in addition, the collection of lighting bills for the city, and there isn't the least trouble about the residents paying up.

buckskin shirt at the easily duped white brother.

"According to careful researches the ghost dance rel" ion was confined al-most entirely! the tribes of the great plains, and t. Plute and related tribes of Nevada and Idaho. It originated about thirty years ago and is long since extinct.

Going to Indian Heaven. "The great underlying principle of the ghost dance doctrine was that th time was near when the whole Indian race. living and dead, would be re-united upon a regenerated earth, to H st. N. W. race, living and dead, would be reunited upon a regenerated earth, to live a life of aboriginal happiness, forever free from death and misery.

"The main purpose of this dancing ceremony was to dance until they became tired and dizzy, whereupon they became unconscious and fell to the ground within the circle. While in this state, a kind of trance, they had visions and believed that they were in the presence of their departed relatives, and on regalning consciousness related their experiences to the assembled dancers.

"Unlike most Indian dances, no drum, rattle, or other musical instrument was used for accompaniment: nor were any fires built within the circle. At the conclusion of the dance the participants shook their garments to remove all evil influences therefrom, and later all bathed to expel spiritual and earthly evil."
